

Sundays River Citrus Company

The Sundays River Citrus Company (SRCC) began as a cooperative in 1924 in the scenic Sundays River Valley in the Eastern Cape of South Africa and has since evolved into the country's largest citrus grower, packer and exporter. The Valley provides ideal conditions for citrus; good soil, reliable water from an extensive irrigation system, and favourable climate, which helps SRCC produce a wide range of high-quality citrus fruits (from lemons and navels to mandarins and Valencia's) that are trusted globally.

INDUSTRY

Agriculture

COUNTRY

South Africa

WEBSITE

www.srcc.co.za/

ENDPOINTS

SEATS: 750

PRODUCT

ESET Protect Complete

The Customer

SRCC manages the full citrus value chain; from cultivating fruit in the Valley to packing, processing, marketing, and exporting millions of cartons of citrus to local and international markets. The company operates multiple packhouses, supports a network of growers, and ensures quality control and logistical coordination. operations, SRCC also invests in sustainability, land-reform and empowerment efforts to support emerging farmers, contributing to rural economic development in the region. access for customers, fostering employee growth through training, and contributing to community and environmental sustainability.

"ESET IS A POWERFUL AND RELIABLE SOLUTION THAT DELIVERS STRONG PROTECTION WHILE REMAINING EXCEPTIONALLY EASY TO MANAGE."

Jan Visser, IT Engineer, Sunday's River Citrus Company

The Challenge

Before using ESET, Sunday's River Citrus Company struggled to ensure consistent protection for its endpoints and safeguard sensitive company data, leaving the organisation vulnerable to cyber threats and potential breaches.

KEY BENEFITS

- Easy deployment
- Light footprint on the system
- Reasonable costs

The Solution

To address their cybersecurity challenges, Sunday's River Citrus Company decided to adopt ESET Protect Complete, a comprehensive security solution designed to safeguard endpoints, servers, and sensitive company data against a wide range of cyber threats. ESET Protect Complete provides advanced protection through threat detection, automated response, and centralised management, ensuring that businesses remain secure without adding complexity for IT teams.

Jan Visser, IT Engineer, noted that "ESET is a robust solution that is easy to manage," highlighting how the platform not only strengthened their security posture but also simplified the ongoing management of their IT environment. By implementing ESET Protect Complete, Sunday's River Citrus Company effectively addressed their previous vulnerabilities, ensuring consistent protection across all devices and giving the organisation confidence that critical business data is safe from cyber threats.